I get the feeling she has/had it in her...and she found a way to separate current self from her former self and forgave the old her and killed the memory?

She's killer! No, I mean a killer. She is fucking crazy! All all all evidence points to her. How the fuck is she sitting there. Theo be careful please. She's demented. Watch all the videos of deception and body cues. She did it. And why? I'm not watching this podcast any further. I'm from Seattle. Fuck her. Why did you want to talk to her. You are always attracted to girls that have something wrong with them. Talk to you shrink about it. You obviously wanted to...meet her. Your weird bro. And your song sucks ass. Other than this your great.

Oh... and I'd never fall asleep in the same room with this woman. She is an absolute cold blooded killer. There is something so eerie and spooky about her. I could see her standing over a body with a knife and that scary smile, teeth bared, laughing and joyously having just stabbed a person to death. Like, I can actually envision this when I see her and hear

When women use that baby voice on grown men, they're using the dark arts. This one is super crafty. And I mean dark. She has some of the strongest darknesses and brightest lights I've seen in a person. Incredible. I bet half the people listening to this aren't even paying attention because of her hypnotic voice and the way she speaking. If people were

Theo is really compromising with her. Nothing should be off limits in comedy. She just told him what kinds of jokes were appropriate and which weren't. I'm shocked right now. She has a lot of power over him. Imagine if brendan talked this way to him... she's smart. She's playing the sweet mother that theo never had, role and hypnotizing him. She's good.

Amanda's short stint in an Italian pokey has somehow made her an expert on the criminal mind?

Many of the things she says are just the wishful thoughts of a naive young girl. Most of it isn't based on real world behaviors or observations.

Why her? I think Meredith Susanna Cara Kercher's family and most reasonable people would agree that being raped and murdered is a little worse than what Amanda has gone through. Thank Christ she's a privileged white girl who can afford good lawyers. Imagine it were Shaneiqua from Compton, we would have never seen her again.
