A conspiracy theory website that claims to report the true account of the death of Coulsdon student Meredith Kercher has surfaced on the internet.

The site, called True Justice for Meredith Kercher, is based in New York and criticises the coverage of the murder by American news channels, especially CBS.

It is aiming to compile the definitive guide to the murder in Perugia on November 1 last year.

The site focuses on a number of Powerpoint presentations compiled by a poster called Kermit.

He is described on the site as "extraordinarily perceptive...with an encyclopaedic knowledge of the case and his writing is sharp and often laugh-out-loud funny".

Kermit has put together a detailed guide to the events of November 1, which saw the discovery of Meredith's half-naked body at the Perugia flat she shared with American Amanda Knox.
