

A middle-aged man with glasses and a dark sweater over a light blue collared shirt is speaking. He is positioned in front of a glass wall. To his left, the glass has a white, branching molecular structure. To his right, a colorful, abstract pattern resembling a DNA double helix or protein structure is visible on the glass. The lighting is soft and professional.

DAVID BALDING
DNA STATISTICIAN