

Subject	Threat or abuse as described by CPJ	Test	Ease of test	Accusation credible?	Justifies Letter to 21 World Leaders?
Perugian blogger with screen name	On 28-10-2008, "approached" by "several" policemen and "pushed and hit"	Google	Easy	Not at all	No
	"Regular" attempts "to prevent him from entering the court; seized his cellphone and went through his contacts and text messages; mouthed insults at him from across the courtroom; and stared over his shoulder as he took notes."	Google	Easy	No - impossible in court room layout	No
	On 28-09-2010, 5 policemen "forcibly entered Sfarzo's apartment. They did not produce a warrant or show their badges Four of the five shoved Sfarzo to the ground, struck him, handcuffed him, and climbed on top of him, crushing his air supply"	Google, review Perugia crime forums	Easy, need coffee break	No - requires further leaps of faith	No - and by now the 21 leaders are wondering what's going on in CPJ
OGGI / Steve Shay WSH / Joe Cottonwood	Ref. OGGI: the national weekly newsmagazine Oggi, received an official notification that Mignini had started legal action Ref. Steve Shay: unnamed legal experts who reportedly believed Mignini to be "mentally unstable." ... eleven days later (Mignini) had filed a defamation claim against the West Seattle Herald. Ref. Cottonwood: Mignini has threatened with a criminal defamation lawsuit Cottonwood described Mignini as an "intellectually dishonest bully."	Google	Easy	No - Mignini's reply to personal attacks is shown to be normal and not to have affected reporting	No - the CPJ is looking like Wile E. Coyote after stepping over the edge of a very deep canyon
Douglas	"Breston was forced to leave Italy for fear of	ding	ding	ding	ding